#TREESOFFLW

THIS MONTH,

we launched our TREES OF LFW campaign for a sustainable fashion industry with Lakmé Fashion Week in Mumbai.

The fashion industry is one of the biggest polluters of greenhouse gas emissions and Lakmé Fashion Week recognises the role it can play in transforming the industry into a carbon-neutral operation. Patrons and visitors to the event were invited to plant trees as part of Project Enrich Biodiversity and make fashion a green enterprise.

You can still make a difference so head to our TREES OF LFW campaign page to plant a tree and watch our promotional video now.

SUPPORTING STUDENTS TO LOOK AFTER TREES

Students from KMS Government High School in Balliganur village, Chikmagalur district in Karnataka went on holiday and couldn't look after their plants. The SankalpTaru Foundation aided the students' efforts by installing a drip irrigation system for the 100 saplings that we planted last year.

This event was part of their sustainability and volunteer engagement drive and the atmosphere was infectious with laughter and enthusiasm about giving back to nature.

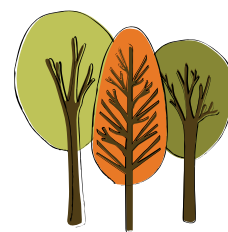

MITSUBISHI COME ON BOARD AS A CORPORATE PARTNER

The Mitsubishi Corporation has committed to planting 7000 trees on the Aravalli Ranges as part of Project Bhavnam. 1000 saplings have already taken root and these trees will create a forest in Delhi-NCR that will fight air pollution, transform the barren hills into a lush green space and act as a groundwater recharge zone in a water-stressed area.
